

I have just learned you are considering allowing LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator services...please don't do this! I choose to listen to k-love at 91.1 in Denver vs all the other radio stations in town. K-love offers wonderful (Christian) music and commentary that is just not available anywhere else. They announce upcoming Christian concerts and events in our community that I would have no other way to learn about. There are so many choices of radio formats in our market already, although none like k-love, that I can't imagine how turning over their frequency to a LPFM would benefit the market with programming not already available. K-love certainly serves the public interest in our community by offering unique programming. The station must be very popular here in Denver because our city provides quite a bit of funding for the station through their membership drives. I would be lost without my k-love and I hope you'll leave the translator situation the way it currently is. Thanks!
